Laban MvmntAn GradCert12

12 credits required for MA students. 18 credits required for non-MA students. Grade of "B" or better required in all courses. CGPA of 3.0 or better required.

The Graduate Laban Certificate in Movement Analysis program supports the core objectives of the Department of Dance/Movement Therapy and Counseling with which it is affiliated. Students who successfully complete the GLCMA will be able to:

- Analyze, evaluate and apply knowledge of the human body/human movement to understand its role in functional and expressive behavior.
- Embody principles drawn from the Laban taxonomy to develop and refine a full repertoire of movement choices.
- Apply and evaluate techniques for observing, assessing and researching nonverbal communication
- Demonstrate a reflective use of self, including an understanding of Body Knowledge/Body Prejudice, to analyze the nonverbal dynamics of therapeutic, educational, and artistic relationships including the impact of environmental, social, and cultural factors.

Each outcome will be accomplished through engaging course material and projects, all of which address kinesthetic, analytic and theoretical competencies in an integrated manner.

The following courses are between 3-6 credits each:
